US President Joe Biden has wrapped up his Asia Pacific visit to American allies, and during his visit to South Korea last month, he was treated with a lavish “Hansik” or Korean cuisine served at a state dinner hosted by Korean President Yoon Suk-yeol.

Quite different his predecessor, Donald Trump, a notorious teetotaler, Biden enjoyed the three wines that were served at the dinner that celebrate the bond between the two countries.

No. 2 Chateau Montelena Chardonnay

Chateau Montelena is one of the most historical wine estates in Napa Valley and California's wine history. Established in 1882, its Chardonnay famously trumped over well pedigreed white wines from Burgundy to come out on top in the legendary Judgement of Paris organized by the late wine writer Steven Spurrier in 1976.

The wine is sold in Hong Kong via Ponti Wine Cellars for about HKD 600 a bottle.
